Coffroth, who met her death suddenly on Friday, Oct. 13, 1893. She was drowned, with her infant niece, while driving across the Capon River. The ford proved too deep, and it was only by chance that the other two occupants of the carriage were rescued. Miss Coffroth was a most zealous member of our auxiliary, and had been corresponding secretary for the Society for four years. Her tragic death was a sad ending to a most beautiful life. Jclia H. Morehousk, Ditt. Sec. Baltimore Branch.--When the secretary returned from the executive meeting in St. Paul to find one of the district secretaries contem Slating rclinquishment of the work, another riven southward by the precarious condition of her husband s health, another valuable worker removed by the itineracy into an adjoining conference, and $1,400 wanted to complete first quarter s appropriations, the prospect...
